Intent and Overview

This course will address updates in breast cancer screening, breast cancer risk assessment and lifestyle modifications to reduce breast cancer risk. The course will also cover updates in genetic testing for breast cancer and controversies regarding who should be tested and which test is appropriate. Management of high risk lesions and new developments in the systemic therapy of breast cancer will be covered. The course also features a mini-symposium on ductal carcinoma in situ and issues pertaining to the evaluation and management of this early stage breast cancer.

Who Should Attend

This course is designed for physicians, nurses and other health care professionals practicing in the areas of Primary Care, Gynecology, Radiology and General Surgery.

Continuing Education Credit

The University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Other health care professionals are awarded 0.6 continuing education units (CEUs) which are equal to 6.0 contact hours.

Social Work — This program is offered for 6 hours of social work continuing education through co-sponsorship of the University of Pittsburgh’s School of Social Work, a Council on Social Work Education-accredited school and, therefore, a PA pre-approved provider of social continuing education. These credit hours satisfy requirements for LSW/LCSW, LPC and LMFT biennial license renewal.

Meeting Location

The conference will be held at the Herberman Conference Center at UPMC Shadyside.

Special Needs

Participation by all individuals is encouraged. Advance notification of any special needs will help us provide better service. Please notify us of your needs at least two weeks in advance of the program by calling Maureen Hewko at (412) 623-5993.
